

GRAND JURY WILL INVESTIGATE "SAPHO"

Clergymen and Leading Women Will Be Asked to Tell of Play's Immorality.

The Grand Jury is to investigate the immorality of Miss Netherole's "Sapho" production at Wallack's Theatre. Without waiting for the District Attorney's office to take action, the Grand Jury this afternoon asked that a copy of the report of Inspector Thompson to Chief Devery be sent to them. They were informed by Assistant District Attorney O'Reilly that Inspector Thompson, who attended the performance last night, made only a verbal report.

The Grand Jury then decided to at once begin an investigation on its own. The jurors obtained a copy of the petition sent to Mayor Van Wyck, asking that the play be suppressed, and will subpoena many of those who signed the petition to appear before them. Many of the witnesses will be clergymen and women holding offices in social organizations.

It is said that the investigation will be thorough, and that if the Grand Jury finds that the play is a violation of the law, the management of Wallack's Theatre and the members of Miss Netherole's company.

Police Inspector Walter Thompson came down to Police Headquarters this morning with a bad taste in his mouth and a disconcerted look in his face. He had been sent last night to see "Sapho." Four detectives and a stenographer went with him. This was the Inspector's seventh trip to "Sapho," and he was wondering what the Chief had against him.

Perhaps it will not be wise to mention "Sapho" to him for a few days.

"What am I going to tell the Chief? Well, I'll tell him one thing, and that is that it is a bum show. That is the worst kick I've got seven times to see a bum show is rubbing it in thick."

INSPECTOR THOMPSON.

"Do I think the play immoral? Not any more so than many other plays that are showing and which are patronized by the best people. There's no kick coming from them."

"I can't see anything in 'Sapho' that would hurt any one able to be out after a day's work. I don't think that the people are howling against 'Sapho' have ever seen the play."

"They've probably read the book and have jumped at the conclusion that if Miss Netherole acts out the character as portrayed in the book, it's a hot show. But it isn't."

"Of course there are things that are suggestive, but for the life of me I can't see why the play should be suppressed. That's what I've told the Chief and that's what I think of it."

"And as a show it's very much on the bum."

After listening to Inspector Thompson's report, Chief Devery said to an Evening World reporter:

"I am now convinced that there is no call for police interference."

WIFE AND BABY LOST.

Mrs. William Kottmeyer Left Home Friday for a Walk.

For four days and nights has William Kottmeyer walked the streets, searching every institution, every hospital, every possible house or refuge, for his young wife and child.

Mrs. Kottmeyer, who is but twenty-five years old, had apparently lived in perfect happiness with her husband, a middle-aged saloonkeeper, in their home at 107 First avenue. And there was no suggestion of a hidden purpose in her mind when on Friday she kissed her husband and, saying that she would walk the baby in the fresh air, left the house. But from that moment she has been lost.

Mr. Kottmeyer gave the usual notification to the police, and the police sent out the customary description, which would fit any one of a hundred thousand women. Then the distracted husband began his search.

"My wife was happy and in perfect health," he says. "I can only account for her disappearance on the basis of accident."

"I shall go on and on until I find my wife and baby. My search for them will end only with my life."

'AINT REFORM BAD SON.

Major Ludlum Says His Boy Is Beyond All Hope of Redemption.

Major James D. Ludlum, U. S. A., was complainant today in Harlem Court against his son, Herbert J. Ludlum.

"I have given this very chance to reform," he said. "He was once well-to-do but drink has beggared him. His older brother lent him $100, which he squandered. Saturday night he threatened to kill his three-month-old baby and turned his wife out into the snow. Last night he met my other son and me on One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, and drew a crowd by his loud abuse of us."

Ludlum's father, mother and brother testified against him. They asked that he be sent to the alcoholic ward in Bellevue Hospital, but the magistrate said he was not suffering from alcoholism sufficiently to entitle him to commitment there. He was held in $200 bonds for examination Thursday, and was sent to a cell to sober up.

There is a sorrowful warning of a fallen son in the family of Col. Bertram C. Clayton, commanding the Fourteenth Regiment, of Brooklyn Borough, who is also the Congressman from the Fourth District. Mrs. Louise M. Clayton, his wife, is suing for a limited divorce on the ground of cruel treatment and non-support, and this morning her counsel asked Justice Dickey to allow $20 a week alimony and $100 counsel fees.

Col. Clayton went to Porto Rico as a Captain in Troop C. After his return he was stricken with typhoid fever and was nursed in St. John's Hospital. He is the father of two children.

In her affidavit Mrs. Clayton says that her husband's unkind treatment began five years after their marriage. Although she was the daughter of rich William Brasher, a retired cloth manufacturer, and received from him an allowance of $2000 a year, Clayton, she alleges, made her do all sorts of menial work while he enjoyed himself spending her money. For a long time he drew $1,500 a year from her father's company, none of which, she alleges, she ever saw.

Col. Clayton's answer is very warm. He asserts that his wife is a victim of strong drink and that she has voices of a social nature which would perhaps excuse him if he began a suit for less limited divorce. Once when he was in a hospital he got a telephone message stating that she had been removed from a large dry-goods store to the Seney Hospital while in a condition of inebriety.

He refused to send her to Alsbury, he says, where she created a scandal by her carriages on. Once, he says, she threatened her oldest child with a knife. Justice Dickey asked for supporting affidavits to be handed in on Friday.

Clayton is a West Pointer. He met his wife while a second lieutenant serving in the West.

CLAYTON'S WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE.

She Accuses the Colonel of Cruelty and Non-Support, and He Makes Sensational Counter-Charges.

THE STATE TO PAY.

Not Constitutional to Make a Levy for Canals on Certain Counties—Bill Being Drawn.

ALBANY, Feb. 20.—The Canal Committee of the Assembly and the Governor have been advised by the Attorney-General and other legal authorities who have been consulted that it will be absolutely unconstitutional to levy a tax for canal improvements on certain counties bordering on the canal.

It is pointed out that the Constitution limits the bonded indebtedness of a municipality and that a distribution of the proposed indebtedness for canal improvements would violate it.

The Canal bill to be drawn to-day will therefore provide for $2,000,000 to be distributed as a State bonded indebtedness upon all counties.

The bill amends the section of the Penal Code which relates to the carrying of concealed deadly weapons and includes in the list "hat pins more than three inches in length."

Mr. Phillips gives as his reason for his bill that many fine, large policemen have been maimed through the vigorous use of a good, strong, six-inch hat pin in the hands of an enraged woman, whose escapades had brought her into the clutches of the law.

"Why," said Mr. Phillips, to-day, "they jab them right into a fellow when they get mad, and it hurts awfully. It isn't right to allow such weapons to be carried by the ladies."

Mr. Phillips was greatly incensed about a report which was spread about the Assembly that his bill was introduced in the interests of a company which was about to put a new hat fastener on the market.

The idea of such a thing, asserted Mr. Phillips, "I wouldn't lend myself to any such scheme."

ALBANY, Feb. 20.—Commandant Shepard of the Bath Soldiers' Home, who refused to appear before the trustees to answer a second lot of charges, has, instead, sent them a statement.

He denies that he is guilty of the charges made against him and lodges a fierce protest against the action of the trustees, demanding a dismissal of the charges.

ALBANY, Feb. 20.—The Fallows bill, authorizing the Governor to appoint a commission of fifteen to inquire into the local government of New York City and the charter and suggest legislation thereon, was advanced in the House to-day to third reading after Mr. Green had denounced the bill which gave the Governor so much power.

DIVORCED, HE GETS $30,000.

Father-in-Law of Editor Arthur C. Grissom Makes Settlement.

Arthur C. Grissom, editor and proprietor of Smart Set, a publication devoted to the doing of society, has been divorced. For consenting to the divorce, he received, it is said, the sum of $30,000 from his father-in-law, Dr. W. S. Woods, President of the National Bank of Commerce in Kansas City.

The acceptance of $30,000 brought to a sudden termination two suits which Grissom had instituted against Dr. Woods. One was for $20,000 for the alienation of the affections of his wife; the other, $20,000, for breach of business contract.

Then suit was taken by Julia Woods-Grissom for a divorce on the ground of incompatibility and was immediately granted.

Mr. Grissom when seen in the editorial sanctum of Smart Set to-day said he was a much abused and much misguided man. He had no word of reproach for his wife and was greatly perturbed at the notoriety that had come his way.

Dr. Woods is credited with saying that Grissom would not be permitted to see his two-year-old daughter Gladys. Concerning this Mr. Grissom said:

"Such a statement is absolutely untrue. On the contrary I am to see the child at any and all times. Any one who stops to think and knows anything of law will recognize that the courts would award a child of tender years to the custody of the mother. Therefore the imputation that its possession was forfeited for a money consideration is absurd."

Mr. Grissom declined to say more. The story of how Grissom met and loved the daughter of the wealthy bank president; how the runaway marriage was planned and executed; how Grissom consented to go to Kansas City for a yearly salary; and how the father-in-law gradually secured the daughter away from her husband have been printed at length and need no repetition here.
